HELLO TO YOU ALL

Well here we are shortest day come and gone!!- not too sure whether that means these frosts will be gone also, but we can start to look forward to longer days again!! We do hope you are keeping warm and coping with the added costs around winter. Just a reminder to put on extra layers of clothes rather than burning up the kilowatts or doing some physical exercise to keep the blood flowing!!

We have some interesting activities for July – there is something there for everyone I am sure, including meeting with other groups, creative pottery art bone carving at Take 5 and bead making with Gretta on Thursday mornings. All Day outings require you to put your name down in advance remember!!

Some things coming out of our monthly Members Meetings of note for those who were not present:

We still need people to volunteer to take the minutes.

We would hope more folk would take up the opportunity to be Monday's Kitchen Assistant – this is to help you learn how to put a complete meal together.

The New WACA website is up and running and can be accessed on www.wgtnaftercare.org.nz and just follow the side prompts to look at the various Centres, including our current newsletter etc – you may even find your photo there showing some of the activities we do here at New Avenues. These will change from time to time

Before our next meetings it would be appreciated if folk could give some thought to revising our Centre's Rules. These need updating – there may be some additions or deletions needed. Remember these are rules put together by Consumers and need to reflect behaviours and expectations etc which are acceptable to you the clients. We will start to look at this in July/August 2007 which gives plenty of time for discussion etc.

If you are unable to attend these meetings but have thoughts around this, please ring or talk to me and I will put your ideas on the agenda.

We are always looking for new ideas here at New Avenues – you may have something to share so don't be backward at coming forward!! The Staff do have limits to their suggestions of new experiences for you and would dearly love your input anytime.

There could be some speakers or places to visit you could suggest, along with further activities we could do at New Avenues. Remember this is your space and place!!

Well that is about all for JULY. Take Care and keep well.

We do look forward to your participation here at New Avenues.

Lynn, Vai and Kelvin
